FOREWORD

The history of the Moxley Family has been researched and compiled for the sake of posterity.

It is thought that the Moxleys originally came from the British Isles, however this particular branch of the Family originated in the State of Virginia, U.S.A.

At this date the Father of this branch is not known however he died prior to the Family's moving to Canada because in January, 1818 Daniel Eby of Waterloo County, Ontario, married Mrs. Delilah Moxley, a widow, who resided in McClellandtown, Pennsylvania, near Pittsburgh. They, in turn, came to Canada and took up land in Waterloo County, Ontario, north of the Town of Waterloo. Their farm was referred to as the "Huber" or "Mrs. Sittler Farm", in later years.

Daniel Eby died in Pennsylvania, while visiting there, in November, 1820. His wife and her seven children remained in Waterloo County where they pioneered and produced many off-spring.

Mrs. Delilah Moxley Eby was born April, 1779 and died June 25, 1842. She is buried in the First Mennonite Church Cemetery, Kitchener, Ontario, in the same row as her oldest son and youngest daughter.

The descendants of Mrs. Delilah Moxley Eby are organized in this booklet as follows:

- Chapter 1 - William MOXLEY (1798-1831)
- Chapter 2 - Samuel MOXLEY (1800- ?) Incomplete

The SAMUEL MOXLEY Branch

MOXLEY FAMILY

Samuel MOXLEY, the second of six known children of Mrs. Delilah Moxley EBY, was born in Virginia, U.S. August 27, 1800. He moved with his Mother and family to Waterloo County, Ontario, in 1818.

He married twice: (1.) Laura

(dau. of Benjamin Springer & Mary McKean)

(2.) Elizabeth - born 1820 June 15

The family is listed in the 1851 census of Waterloo Twp. however this branch is incomplete because no further information is available. They must have moved out of Waterloo County during the 1850's, possibly to the U.S. It is certain that they did not continue to be residents of Waterloo County.

He owned land in what is Kitchener today. On May 16, 1842 he sold a 1 acre parcel of land, in the Schneider Survey, to the Trustees of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, for one dollar. This church later became Trinity United Church in Kitchener.

The ELIZABETH MOXLEY Branch

MOXLEY FAMILY

Elizabeth MOXLEY, the third of six known children of Mrs. Delilah Moxley EBY, was born in the State of Virginia, U.S., November 13, 1804. She moved with her mother and family to Waterloo County, in Ontario, in 1818.

She married John KINSEY, born at Doon, Ontario, April 19, 1801, and is reported to be the first white, male child born in Waterloo County. He was the second of five children of Dilman KINSEY and Barbara BIEHN, who had moved to Doon, about 1800, from Bucks County, Pennsylvania. Both generations farmed on the west side of the Grand River and on the northeast part of "Biehn's Tract". This land remained in the KINSEY Family for about 120 years.

This particular branch of the KINSEY Family used at least three different spellings of the name, and other spellings are not uncommon in other branches, viz: Kinzey, Kinzie, Kenzie, kinsie, Kinse and kinsey. This branch began as KINSLY while later and present generations have adopted KINZIE and KENZIE. The spelling was never legally changed.

It is written that the name originated in Switzerland but because of religious persecutions the Family moved to the Palatinate in Germany and later to America, arriving in Bucks County, Pennsylvania about 1735.

John KINSEY died at Doon June 7, 1852 and his wife Elizabeth MOXLEY died there May 4, 1883. Both are buried near his parents in the KINSEY-BEAN Pioneer Cemetery, Doon, which is part of the original Kinsey property described above.

To them was born a family of 9 children, viz:

BACKGROUND

About the year 1700 the first Mennonites landed in America from Holland and settled in Germantown, near Philadelphia. They left Europe because of dire persecution of their religious beliefs. Numbers migrated in the following years, and settled in Lancaster, Bucks, Montgomery, and other counties. By their great thrift and perseverance they made for themselves most excellent homes. In course of time, when the population of Pennsylvania became too dense for an agricultural community, it was found necessary to seek homes in newer and more thinly populated places. In all the new places the most marked success, as usual, attended them. They have always had the extraordinary fortune to select the very best part of the country, and with the natural advantages they combined their great industry, which has ever resulted in making the locality of the State or Province in which they settled, the best to be found.

In 1798 when those parts of Pennsylvania, which were settled by continental Europeans, had become so populous that it was impossible for all to obtain land at home, some families from Bucks and other counties decided to emigrate to the wilds of Canada, where, it was reported, there were excellent tracts of land for farming purposes. Being adverse to military service, peace restored after the Revolutionary war, the Independence of the Thirteen Colonies declared, many now resolved to cross over to Canada because of the great faith they had in the British Government in fulfilling their promise, made to them over 100 years previously, in granting them exemption from military service and from taking oaths. The first settlements, which these people made in Ontario, were in the Niagara District, at what is commonly known as "The Twenty". Afterwards some settled in York (Toronto), and other counties.

In the fall of 1799, Joseph Schöberg (now spelled Shirk or Sherk) and Samuel Betzner came to Canada. They spent the winter at the Falls, and further inland until spring. Being dissatisfied with these sections as permanent locations, they pressed onward about 30 miles beyond the then limit of civilization, their desire being to locate on the banks of a river of which they had heard as traversing this district. No white settlers had as yet penetrated thus far, but a few fur traders had located temporarily on the banks of the Grand River, within the County of Waterloo.

In 1799 and 1800, two Englishmen named Ward and Smith, were engaged in slashing the way for a road, which the Government contemplated building from Dundas towards this County. Having satisfied themselves, from a thorough examination, that everything was up to and beyond their expectations, and entirely satisfactory, they decided to settle on the banks of the Grand River. They moved there with their families in the spring of 1800. They had to pass through a wilderness of 30 miles from Dundas to their location.

In 1800 Sherk and Betzner purchased their land directly from Richard Beasley and paid for it. Sherk exchanged his horse for the land so purchased, but still had sufficient means left to purchase a yoke of oxen and a sled, by which means he transported his family to Waterloo, in the early spring of 1800, and located on the east banks of the Grand River, directly opposite where Doon now is located. Other arrivals came later in the same year, bringing their families and household effects. One of them was Dilman Kinsey and his wife Barbara Biehn and one daughter. There were nine teams in this train, two of them having four horses each. All the wagons were covered. They were often obliged to stay in the woods over night while on the journey, but they were well prepared to protect themselves against all kinds of weather, as they had in addition to their covered wagons, movable tents which rendered the most useful and valuable service. They also brought a number of cows with them, which supplied them with milk while on the way.

At this time, we are told, there was no white settlement where Buffalo is now situated. The site of Hamilton, Ont. was an impassable swamp. The only "symptom" of a village, where Dundas is located today, consisted of a small mill, and a smaller store, owned by a Mr Hatt. During these early years quite a number of families arrived here, and the hardships of those early pioneers was very great. It is stated that even the peelings of the potatoes had to be saved for planting in the spring of 1802.

The most extraordinary difficulties, however, beset them while crossing the Alleghany Mountains with their heavily laden teams. They found it necessary to unload a considerable portion of their baggage and goods, and pay for their conveyance, their own teams being unable to bring all across. They crossed the Niagara River on what was then known as "Flats". There was no accident or sickness on this trip. The time required to make the trip from Montgomery or Bucks County to Waterloo County was ten weeks, including the two weeks which they laid over at "Hornings on the Mountain", while the men in the company worked on the road through the Beverly Swamp, making it so that horse-teams could some way be taken over it. There was no settlement between Hornings and Waterloo. After this road was improved the company left Hornings for Waterloo with their teams. George Clemens drove the first horse-team that ever came through the Beverly Swamp. When they arrived at the end of their long journey, they found the country as they had expected, all woods except a few clearings made by those who had come a short time previously. They soon selected places where they commenced to make themselves homes. John Biehn Sr. settled about a mile west of the present village of Doon. This area was known as "Biehn's Tract". Dilman Kinsey purchased a portion of this land, which remained in the Kinsey family until about 1920.

In the fall of 1801, we find that this beautiful country had a population of 12 families, all from Pennsylvania. Mary Biehn, the eldest of the family of John Biehn Jr. and Nancy Bechtel, born Apr.24,1800, was the first white female born in Waterloo County.

It is also reported that John Kinsey, born April 19, 1801, was the first white male child born in Waterloo County. He was the second of five children of Dilman Kinsey and Barbara Biehn (sister fo John Biehn Jr.)

In order to get to the nearest mill or store, they had to go through the almost impassable Beverly Swamp, to where Dundas is located, a distance of about 25 miles. The settlers had to construct their own roads, receiving no assistance from the government. All public business had to be done in "Little York", (Toronto), about 50 miles further on, to which the county belonged. Schools were not yet established. A little school was started in 1802, near where the village of Blair is now situated, a man by the name of Rittenhouse being the first teacher in the County of Waterloo. Roads were now made.

Some trouble was experienced in getting a clear title to the land, consisting of about 90,012 acres, because of a joint mortgage of $20,000.00 recorded against it, being then known as the "Beasley Tract". The settlers met in January, 1804, and decided to send Samuel Bricker and Joseph Sherk to Franklin Co. Pa., in an effort to raise the required amount to lift the mortgage. They almost failed in their task, Joseph Sherk being so discouraged, he immediately returned home in despair, leaving Samuel Bricker, who proceeded to Lancaster Co. Having made known his errand among his friends and coreligionists, he finally succeeded in raising the required amount. At the conclusion of S. Bricker's urgent and inspiring appeal among his "Mennonite" friends, they arose, in the meeting, as one man, and declared, "truly we are in duty bound to assist those Canadian brethren in distress". A joint stock company was formed and in due time, the required amount of $20,000.00 was ready; this amount all in silver dollars, was put in a strong box, and entrusted to S. Bricker, and Daniel Lrb, who was appointed his assistant, and conveyed by them on a buggy over 500 miles through forests and swamps to Canada, where it was paid to the proper parties. Finally all things were amicably arranged and the deed between Richard Beasley and his wife, conveying 60,000 acres of land for £10,000 Canadian currency to Daniel Lrb and Jacob Lrb, who were appointed as agents for the company, was satisfactorily executed. A draft for the Township of Waterloo was made by one named Jones, a surveyor, and the tract of land laid out in lots of 448 acres each. These were divided among the stockholders by casting lots, and, in so doing no dissatisfaction could take place, each family on arriving here had the lot previously selected on which they intended to make their home. When now the land was properly secured, emigration to this new settlement was renewed, and many from Lancaster and other counties made preparations, and soon moved to Waterloo County.

Many families arrived during the years 1804 and 1805. The Niagara River was crossed by a scow, from 12 to 14 feet in width and about 30 feet long, propelled by means of oars. They were 2 days coming from Dundas to Preston.

During these early years many others came over, having overcome almost insurmountable obstacles on their journey, built a few log shanties on their clearings, and made for themselves a home. The land was sown in wheat and rye the previous fall, and they could now get it ground at Galt. Any they could spare had to be taken to Dundas, the nearest market. The price of wheat ranged from 90¢ to $1.05 per bushel; later on when more was raised the price dropped to 50¢ and 60¢ per bushel. Land had become more valuable now also, prices ranging from $2.50 to $4.50 per acre. Abraham Erb pushed his way through to where is now the town of Waterloo. His brother John considered him very foolish for settling in that big cedar swamp which would never amount to anything!

We find Dundas, during the years 1809 and 1810, was the nearest Post Office, but all legal business had to be done at Little York (Toronto).

The summer of 1816 was what is called, or known as, the "cold summer". There was frost every month, and in June and July there were seven heavy frosts. On the morning of the first of June it was frozen so hard, that men and wagons could cross the mud-puddles on the newly formed ice without breaking through. On the 21st of June quite a lot of snow fell. Provisions of all kinds were exceedingly scarce. Wheat was from two to three dollars per bushel. The only hay the farmers could secure was what grew wild in the marshes or beaver meadows. Food for man and beast was at starvation prices. The hardships these early settlers had to endure during this cold and inclement year, are almost indescribable. Taxes were very low. A Mr. Brubacher had 2,000 acres and paid only $14.00 taxes thereon. Land was cheap. In some of the older settlements of the township it was selling at $4.00 to $5.00 per acre, yet in such out-of-the-way places as three miles north of Waterloo, it could have been had for a dollar an acre. The taxes had to be sent to "Little York" and these people were never acquainted with what was done with the money.

At this time Berlin (now Kitchener) was a dense, impassable swamp; wolves, bears foxes and other wild animals abounded, to which sheep proved an easy prey. The settlers had no want of venison or fish. For a small loaf of bread and a six-penny crock of thick milk, the Indians would bring them the nicest quarter of venison, or a large basket well filled with the finest of speckled trout.

The summer of 1817 was nearly as cold and unfruitful as the previous year. Harvest did not take place until after seeding time in the fall. It was so chilly in harvest time that the men wore their coats while reaping the grain. In the year 1820, a bridge was built across the Grand River at Freeport. At this time Berlin had a blacksmith shop where now is the corner of King and Queen Streets. The very trying times in old Pa. during these years, was the cause of many arrivals here. By 1835, emigration to this county from Pa. had almost ceased. Individual parties came afterwards, and the Townships took on a very prosperous and healthy growth, many also emigrating during the years of the American Civil War 1860-65, to make their home in Waterloo or some other section.

The MOXLEYS

Early Pioneers of Waterloo County, Ontario, Canada

CHAPTER 4

MARY MOXLEY De KAY
(1806-1892)

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function $f(x)$ defined by the equation

$$f(x) = \int_0^x \frac{1}{1+t^2} dt$$

for $x \in \mathbb{R}$. It is shown that $f(x)$ is an odd function and that $f(x) \in (-\frac{\pi}{2}, \frac{\pi}{2})$ for all $x \in \mathbb{R}$. The function $f(x)$ is also shown to be strictly increasing and concave down on $(0, \infty)$ and strictly increasing and concave up on $(-\infty, 0)$.

2. The second part of the paper is devoted to the study of the function $g(x)$ defined by the equation for $x \in \mathbb{R}$. It is shown that $g(x)$ is an even function and that $g(x) \in (0, \frac{\pi}{4})$ for all $x \in \mathbb{R}$. The function $g(x)$ is also shown to be strictly increasing on $(0, \infty)$ and strictly decreasing on $(-\infty, 0)$.

$$g(x) = \int_0^x \frac{1}{1+t^4} dt$$
